

MeCCSA 2009 Conference

The National Media Museum, Bradford

MeCCSA is the UK subject association for those teaching and researching in Media, Communication and Cultural Studies. The organisation holds its next conference from 14-16 January 2009, hosted by the School of Informatics, University of Bradford and held at The National Media Museum (<http://www.nationalmediamuseum.org.uk>). It includes a reception and conference dinner at the museum in central Bradford.

We are inviting papers, presentations of practice, posters and panels across the range of interests represented by the Association and its networks (see www.MeCCSA.org.uk).

Proposals for papers and panels are welcome in all areas of media, communication and cultural studies. As MeCCSA joined with AMPE (the Association of Media Practitioners in Education) in 2006 practice-based proposals are also very welcome.

Confirmed plenary speakers:

Laura Mulvey (Birkbeck University of London)

Diane Negra (University of East Anglia)

Shaun Moores (University of Sunderland)

Dominique Pasquier (EHESS, Paris).

Abstracts of papers, presentations of practice and posters, no longer than 250 words, should be sent to MeCCSA@Bradford.ac.uk by 19 September in order for peer review to take place.

For more information go to: <http://www.inf.brad.ac.uk/meccsa/>