

Moving Image Research Registry

www.bfi.org.uk/mirr

An online searchable database of research projects on cinema, television and other moving image media. It will provide a useful way to network with those sharing similar interests, and allow academic publishers to be more aware of current trends in research and anticipate this in their publications.

It is important to us that we make the registry as comprehensive as possible, so if your research incorporates moving image media related themes, please create an entry at:
